

@msolomonteacher: I teach English and Media Studies #K12Media

September 6, 2011, 12:03 am

@MaryAnnReilly: I am the dir of curriculum and a practicing artist . #K12Media

September 6, 2011, 12:04 am

@bachtrac: Just like Financial Literacy, would love to see Media Literacy introduced into junior curriculum. #K12Media #CdnEd #edchat #engchat #OnEd

September 6, 2011, 12:05 am

@ms_keats: I think we've only started to scratch the surface of where media literacy can be applied. I agree with @bachtrac #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:06 am

@MaryAnnReilly: @ms_keats @bachtrac @msolomonteacher Cuyrious what you mean by media literacy. #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:07 am

@msolomonteacher: @ms_keats @bachtrac I agree. In Ontario at least it is beginning to be recognized as important even in the early years. #K12Media

September 6, 2011, 12:07 am

@msolomonteacher: @MaryAnnReilly Basically, being able to read texts (but with a much broader definition of the word "text") #K12Media

September 6, 2011, 12:09 am

@ms_keats: Developing a depth of understanding at the variety of media "texts" that surround us, reading each text's form & content, #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:09 am

@MaryAnnReilly: @ms_keats so transmediation (multiple symbol systems) would be essential then in media studies? #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:10 am

@msolomonteacher: @MaryAnnReilly A good beginning: <http://t.co/YkCACw7> #K12Media

September 6, 2011, 12:10 am

@ms_keats: and learning how the form, content, and audience interact with one another to create a language of sorts #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:10 am

@ms_keats: @MaryAnnReilly I would say so- :) #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:11 am

@msolomonteacher: @MaryAnnReilly Yes, so would an understanding of space. Codes& conventions even w/in the classroom walls& the structure of same. #K12Media

September 6, 2011, 12:14 am

@ms_keats: @MaryAnnReilly Also, as a visual artist, you create messages that would be received differently if choosing another medium #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:14 am

@msolomonteacher: My definition of text is very broad... #K12Media

September 6, 2011, 12:14 am

@ginrob_pt: #k12media I'm confused...isn't that already in the curriculum for Ontario?

September 6, 2011, 12:15 am

@ms_keats: @msolomonteacher @MaryAnnReilly Media Awareness Network has wonderful resources that can be used across a variety of subject areas #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:15 am

@ginrob_pt: #k12media I am refering to the media lit. comments

September 6, 2011, 12:15 am

@msolomonteacher: @ginrob_pt It is, but many are not from Ontario, and it is newer, so not uniformly applied. #K12Media

September 6, 2011, 12:16 am

@pammoran: imo we have a lot more to do to educate ourselves re: media literacy in order to be tchrs of young ppl- co-learning is key #K12Media chat

September 6, 2011, 12:17 am

@bachtrac: @MaryAnnReilly Decoding, understanding, critical thinking, evaluating, safety, action. Skills 2 navigate 21st C digital world #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:17 am

@ms_keats: @ginrob_pt It is (usually in English). I think it can be more broadly applied to be included across multiple disciplines #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:18 am

@msolomonteacher: RT @pammoran: imo we have a lot more to do to educate ourselves re: media literacy in order to be tchrs of young ppl- co-learning is key #K12Media chat

September 6, 2011, 12:18 am

@ms_keats: @pammoran I agree, sometimes we as teachers are reluctant to teach what we ourselves haven't been taught. #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:20 am

@msolomonteacher: Do u think that media lit (vs traditional notions of lit) should be a priority? Can Ss navigate the world effectively w/o it? #K12Media

September 6, 2011, 12:22 am

@pammoran: @ms_keats and this is such a broad area in which to develop expertise- most of us weren't conected to thinking ML in schl #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:22 am

@ms_keats: @msolomonteacher I think sometimes it can be overwhelming to teach newer technologies, ie.what to sort/sift and prioritize. #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:25 am

@bachtrac: Innovation & exploration, too! " @MaryAnnReilly: @ms_keats @msolomonteacher Cuyrious what you mean by media literacy. #k12media"

September 6, 2011, 12:25 am

@pammoran: @msolomonteacher key to helping kids learn to negotiate ML - must become part of vs a part from curricula - where are good models? #K12Media

September 6, 2011, 12:25 am

@ms_keats: I am sometimes reluctant to move away from the more traditional texts b/c I'm not sure what to say about the newer forms #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:26 am

@ms_keats: @msolomonteacher developed an idea to use at the kindergarten level that stems from the age old "show and tell". Can u elaborate? #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:28 am

@ginrob_pt: #k12media I know I said as much last week but I think what many people miss is an application of theory re: social effects...

September 6, 2011, 12:28 am

@ginrob_pt: #k12media we should do Mose them deconstruct media...talk about the social effects of a media...more then just 'what's's on'

September 6, 2011, 12:29 am

@msolomonteacher: @pammoran The curriculum in ON is a good one. #K12Media also check out "Queensland Senior English" in Australia, amazing.

September 6, 2011, 12:29 am

@pammoran: @ms_keats also think about kids as prosumers of media ... love the schl proj attached to myblocknyc.com #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:33 am

@msolomonteacher: @ginrob_pt #K12Media Yes, it's very important to teach ABOUT media rather than simply through media.

September 6, 2011, 12:34 am

@ms_keats: How comfortable would you be allowing students to develop a media investigation that is shaped by what they want to know? #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:34 am

@pammoran: @msolomonteacher kids have to not just consume but create & produce media: story, artifact, documentary, history, science, art #K12Media

September 6, 2011, 12:35 am

@msolomonteacher: #K12Media Also important for Ss to be creators of media.

September 6, 2011, 12:35 am

@ms_keats: @pammoran What a neat idea! #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:37 am

@ms_keats: imo, both the investigation/critique and the production of media are about helping to empower our students #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:38 am

@msolomonteacher: @ms_keats #K12Media I hope that is what they do. Student-driven learning is important.

September 6, 2011, 12:40 am

@pammoran: @ms_keats in I-search "MacCrorie- kids ask questions they want to answer- interview, search, seek from an "I" 1st person POV #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:41 am

@msolomonteacher: @zbpip Very well! In the midst of the 2nd #K12Media chat :) Great conversation.

September 6, 2011, 12:41 am

@MaryAnnReilly: @msolomonteacher @ms_keats what you call media literacy, I taught as critical literacy. it is important to read texts critically. #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:44 am

@ms_keats: @pammoran I would love to apply this in my classrooms. I think it would be a great way for my kids to connect more to art history! #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:44 am

@pammoran: @ms_keats yes... kids as creators of art "history" - how does history get selected- what would they choose to include? why #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:45 am

@ms_keats: @MaryAnnReilly I agree, although I find I can sometimes get bogged down with the need to "cover" everything #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:50 am

@msolomonteacher: @MaryAnnReilly I love that. I spent long hours with a mentor of mine talking about critlit. Not widely understood though. #K12Media

September 6, 2011, 12:50 am

@MaryAnnReilly: @pammoran @bachtrac @msolomonteacher @ms_keats great ? Seeing is conditioned by who is doing the seeing. Critical lit ack that. #k12media

September 6, 2011, 12:51 am

@ms_keats: @pammoran Imo, this is one of the first steps in getting students to become more a critical audience--teaching how to "see" #k12media
